WHAT WE NEED FROM YOU:

Picture Books

For a 24-page picture book (minimum pages for printing), we need a story of around 400 words. We can work with more, but not much less, or the book begins to look sparse. We are happy to help 'pad out' stories if you are struggling to make the word count.

It would be lovely if you or your child could provide illustrations, as this makes a wonderful keepsake, but we are happy to provide illustrations if that is easier for you.

The illustrations we use are licensed stock images - we do not use AI-generated images in any of our books. We can also quote for bespoke illustrations, but this would add a significant cost to the project.

Novel-Type-Books

We print 'slim volume' books that also need a minimum of 24 pages. This equates to around 3,500 words, however, this can be broken up into multiple stories or a mixture of stories and poems. We can also add black and white illustrations to help meet the page count. Again, it would be lovely if you or your child had pictures that we could add to make the book truly a reflection of their work.

Some parents/carers have sent us multiple stories ranging from those written in reception all the way through to year 6 and beyond, which makes an amazing record of progress over time. We can also print in your child's handwriting, to make the book even more special. The possibilities are genuinely endless!

How Do We Begin?

We will send you a questionnaire to complete that will let us know what you imagine for your book. Don't worry if you don't know - we have an amazing team of designers and formatters that will take your scribbles and turn them into something fantastic.

The process takes a couple of weeks (mainly because it takes a while to print), but we have fast-track options available if you need your book sooner. Just drop us an email to fasttrack@bigthinkingpublishing.com and we will let you know how we can help.
